Notre Dame of Hampton is now a fine, sturdy structure composed of the best materials. But it would be merely a hollow shell if an aura of tradition did not envelop it. Already the students have brought meaning to long, bright corridors, the familiar thimbleberry color, the stone patios. Tangible things have assumed real parts in our school. Their newness is a symbol of a new awareness, a new construction of inward feeling to complement outward beauty. We know that in the future material substance and tradition will continue to blend, to refine and rebuild a truly new Notre Dame.

A Guide Behind Our Goal

During her years as Headmistress of Notre Dame Preparatory School, Sister Mary Virginia has watched many graduates leave a stately red brick building on Charles Street. Sister has seen these classes of girls enter a busy world, clothed well in Catholicity and mature womanhood. This year, in Hampton, the stone edifice and the locale have changed, it is true. But we, the first graduating class, are well-prepared to meet a modern challenge. Notre Dame has still been Alma Mater, under the leadership of Sister Mary Virginia.

II Esdras 2:18

S. O. PRESIDENT Susan Wright conducts a board meeting.

The Student Organization is the core of activity at Notre Dame. Governed by the SO, the school functions smoothly and each girl is educated according to the principles of Notre Dame. Weekly meetings of the SO Board result in the establishment of rules which promote order, and in various campaigns and activities which promote spirit and unity. The "Hello" campaign initiated the activities of the SO on the Hampton campus.

S.O., N.H.S. *Built Leaders

On Foundations Of Character

HIS EXCELLENCY Bishop Hyle presents a National Honor Society key to Pat Freiert, as Monseignors Duggan and Ells approve.

Striving to build characters representative of Notre Dame on the foundations of scholarship, leadership, character, and service, the National Honor Society increased its membership as well as its activity. Senior, junior, and sophomore members embarked on various projects aimed at stimulating intellectual interest and a desire to serve. Heralding a bright future for the organization was the successful attempt to interest students in volunteer work.

"Prayer, Work and Sacrifice, That All

Erecting a lasting monument of love "To Jesus Through Mary," the Sodality strives for the sanctification of its members and of others. This year, fulfilling her lay apostleship, she spread Catholic principles throughout the school and created a fitting religious atmosphere by conducting the May Procession and the Christmas Ceremonies. Under the guidance of Sister Rita Marie, the Sodalists work to follow the rules in the Manual in order to grow in the love of Christ.

"HAIL HOLY QUEEN" chant sodalists Libby Baker, Valerie Pierce, Mary Lynn Pomoroy, Mary Lou Bullen, Susan Counselman, Sherry Kane, followed by May Queen Sharon Slear, Debra Meekins, Cindy Strautbury, Joann Fareseoo and Father David.

POSTER PAINT crowns the efforts of Sodalists Gene Palmer, Sharon Slear, Claire Smith, Pat McLaughlin, Courtney Tall and Winnie Day.

May Know the Savior of the World"

MISSION CRUSADERS Officers and committee heads prepare to open a meeting; sitting: Susan White and Nancy Klein; standing: Kathy Kenny, Lee Rytina, Muffy Howard, Anne Baetz and Francie Dugan.

Activities of the C. S. M. C. at Notre Dame commenced this year with the annual Mission Dance. Students and their escorts danced in the dining room which was transformed by cornstalks and cornucopias. As a result of the dance, a check for one thousand dollars was contributed to the building fund.

Membership for the Missions was increased to include the entire student body and a Mission room was delegated as the center of activity. Missioners donated time and energy to the list of regular projects: stamp collecting, bandage rolling, tabulating mitebox contributions and added a few new ones—coupon campaigns and book drives. The Mission Rally at the new Cathedral of Mary Our Queen culminated the highly successful year.

FOR THE WOUNDED—Missionaries Dottie Martin, Claire Watson, Martha Dugan, Michele Bizewski, Terry Rodemeyer, Mary Jo Matricciani, Sherry Kane, Kathy Swiss, Barbara Ryland, Mary Brown, Tish Hacker, Pat Reilly and Mary Jo Lyon, prepare bandages for the needy sick.

The Discussion Club has ended its first year at Notre Dame's new campus. The club meets twice a month on Fridays in the music room. Because of its increasing popularity the membership is reserved for seniors only. During the past year the girls have discussed and debated many topics of interest. After the discussions, Father Dunn graciously dispels doubts and answers questions. The club gave a panel discussion for the Parents Association, showing the procedure of our meetings. Members were prepared to defend and explain the Catholic religion.

WELCOME VISITOR Father Dunn arrives for his weekly discussion club meeting. He is greeted by Pat Stuart and Lorrie Pieper.

Library Club Handled "Rush Hours"

LIBRARY CLUB officers Mary Jo Wood, Eileen Bubnis, Eileen Weisman, Connie Callis and Judy Wall promote National Library Week.

Continuing that mammoth task of moving books and equipment through summer and autumn, the Library Club now conducts its meetings in Hampton's pleasant and well-organized library. Members worked tirelessly in the periodical room, the picture file room, and in the library proper. To mirror the appearance of the new building, the club secured glossy new book covers and maintained an exhibition case which promoted interest in national, state, and school affairs. The ideas exchanged at the library conventions predict an even more interesting program next year.

PERIODICAL FILE—Judy Wall and Sue Studz organize magazines so that students may easily find their needed material in the new library file.

... Promoting Friendly Relations

INITIATION PARTY—Spanish Club officers Louise McCormick, Carole Nance and Joyce Kunkel listen attentively as Pam Hyle questions new members.

With a gay, "Buenos Dias!", the Spanish Club made its debut on campus this year. The señoritas take a bi-monthly trip into that land of old traditions through the movies, songs, dances, and games of Spain. Spotlighting the year's activities were the breaking of the Christmas piñata, a Pan-American week of daily tours south of the border, and the initiation fiesta of the new members for the Spanish year ahead.

"SUR LE PONT D'AVIGNON"—The French Club dances to French tunes. Doris Crimy, Sheila McDonnell, Jeanne Leonhart, Mary Nolan, Mary Lou Koontz, Carol Fischer, Marion McGloin, Joyce Poirier, Irene McDonnell, and Ann Parlett keep time to the music.

Members of the French Club, under the supervision of Sister Dulcidia, have sung rounds, danced, conversed and played several games during their bi-monthly meetings. Elected to guide the Club during its first year were: Nannette Smith, president; Pat Baer, vice-president; Mary Kay Schaub, secretary and Jeanne Leonhart, treasurer.

"THE LOIRE IS LOCATED . . ."
—Nanette Smith, French Club president, points to a map of France while Joyce Poirier listens interestedly.

EXPERIMENTERS—Judy Hook, Honey Armstrong, Nancy Shepard, Ginger Braun and Ann Baetz scrutinize parts of a nuclear reactor.

Realizing that in this age of science a need has arisen to stimulate interest for those who hope to assume a role in America's scientific future, Notre Dame is doing its part through the Science Club. This new co-curricular activity directed by Sr. Marylita is furthering scientific knowledge by conducting experiments, taking interesting trips and hearing informative speakers. Through the leadership of its officers, led by Nancy Shepard, the club has set a precedent for curious students of science.

TENSE MOMENT—Future scientist Barbara Gaver peers closely at the palpitating heart of the mouse she has just dissected.

HAIR RAISING—Carol Nance shows the power of electricity, as Mr. Ugo Amilio watches.

This year the Art Club joined the list of extracurricular activities at Notre Dame. Since the membership was limited to approximately ten seniors and five juniors, each student could have free use of the Art Laboratory's facilities and individual instruction. Through the year the girls studied contour drawing, still life compositions, gesture drawings and fashion designs. In both her formal lectures and ready advice, Art moderator Mrs. Nichols evoked an awareness of beauty in art.

STATUESQUE KAYE PARKER poses as Barbara Aiello and Peggy Sullivan sketch her. Mrs. Nichols criticizes.

Art—The Gift of Creation

The Choral Club began its year with enthusiasm by singing for the Dedication of the new School. The Club joined with the Dramatists in presenting the Sisters' Christmas Program to the parents, and it entertained the Christmas shoppers downtown with a "live" broadcast of carols from the Augusta Building and Loan Association.

To complete its activities, the Choral Club helped the parents present "Spring Comes to Hampton", the Soiree's musical production. Although the members loved the thrill of performing before an audience, they all enjoyed during rehearsals the feeling of participation and accomplishment.

CHORAL CLUB OFFICERS—Judy Mohan, Sue Sodaro, Mary Lou Williams and Susan Rooney sort sheet music for the next meeting.

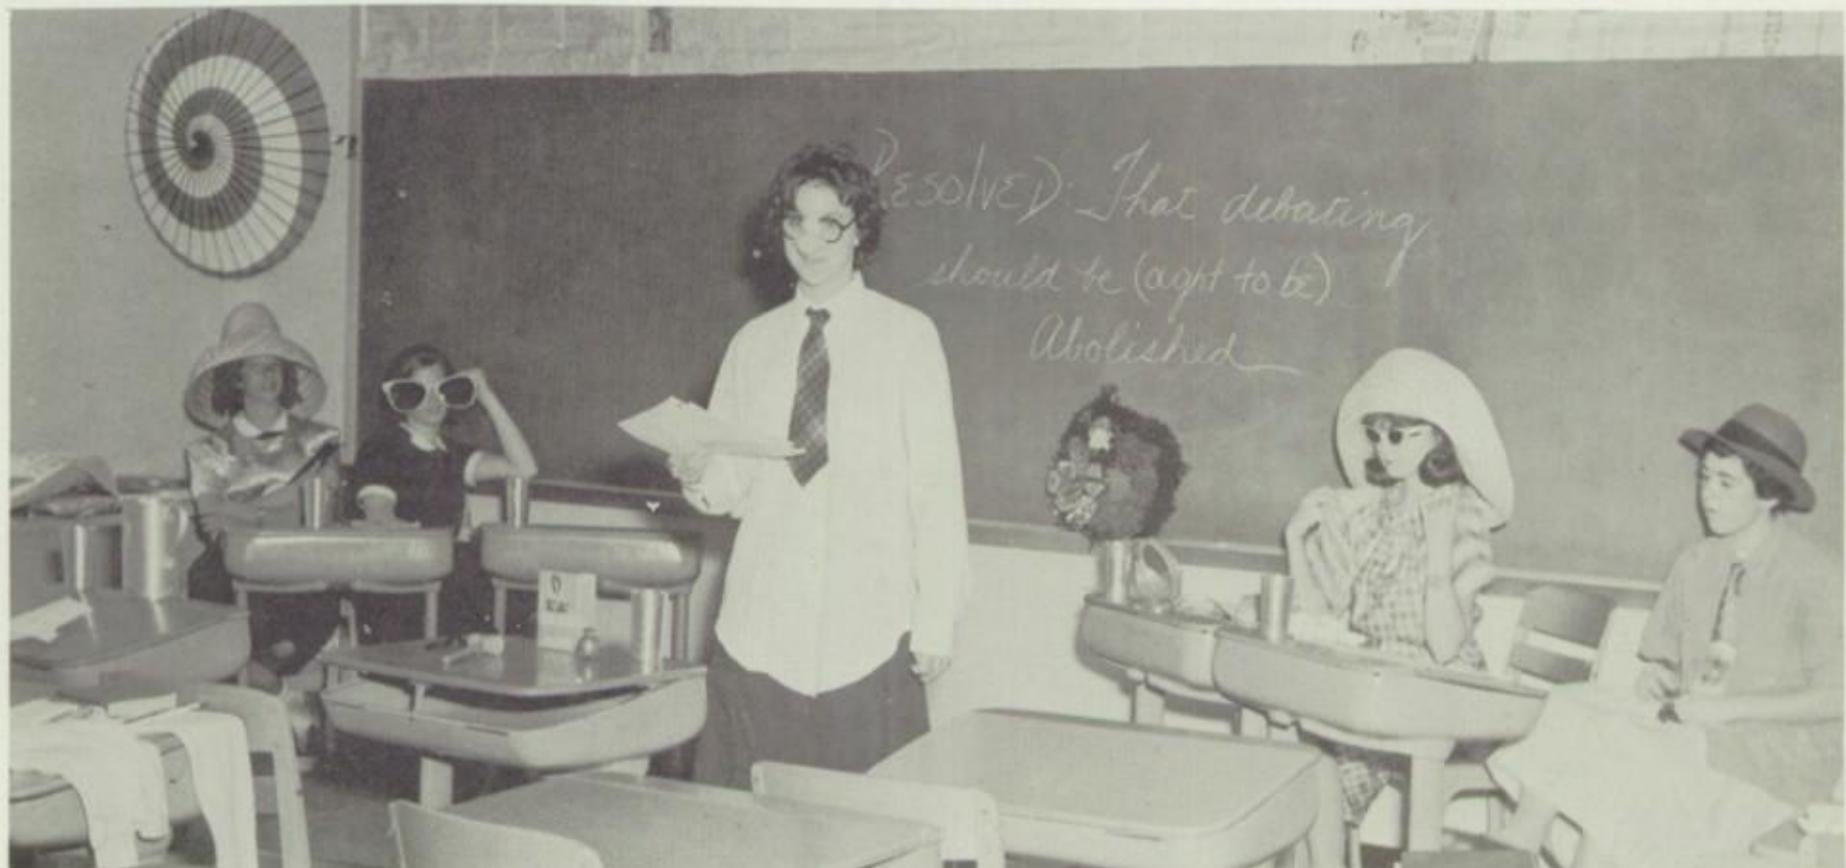

BEFORE THE TOURNAMENT—Jean Pascoe, Mary Beth Hallett, Mimi Kraff, Sue Counselman, Helen McMahon, Sue Murphy, Sue Doud, Gene Palmer and Pat Freiert discuss possible winners with Brother Gordian, C. S. C., President of the Washington Catholic Forensic League.

TOPS WITH TROPHIES—Mimi Kraff, Mary Beth Hallett, Carolyn Bateman and Pat Donegan admire one of the Debate Club trophies after the Awards Assembly.

A member of the National Catholic Forensic League, The Le Clerc Debate Club distinguished itself this year by impressive showings in local and regional tournaments. Among these exhibitions in which the club participated were the Tau Kappa Alpha Contest, the Extemporaneous Contest and the Washington Tournament held at John Carroll High School. In these activities the group was enthusiastic in striving "toward articulate Catholic leadership," the primary goal of all the members of the Debate Club.

DEBATORS relax after a strenuous year by clowning in an impromtu skit. Claudine Ernest, Susan Counselman, Mimi Kraff, Gene Palmer and Pat Freiert participate.

DEADLINE TIME for the Gateway staff results in a flurry of activity. Mikie Armstrong, Pat Freiert, Jeanne Phillips, Sissy Muse, Sharon Slear, Doris Crimy, Betty O'Connell and Louise McCormick are members of the staff.

Carrying on the traditions of the Charles Street Campus and laying the cornerstone for future journalistic efforts at Hampton, the GATEWAY strived to present news of value and interest to both the students and the faculty. As a reward for their endeavors, which through the year have been symbolized by truth, effort and devotion for Notre Dame, the staff merited a first-place rating at the Columbia Scholastic Press Association Conference in New York City.

Journalists Encountered Puzzles

"M-M-M LOOKS GOOD!"—Former GATEWAY staff: Lynn Reagan, Charlotte O'Donnell, Frances Hanna, Barbara Gaver, Ann Parlett, Susanna Ciepichal, Stephanie Schaub, Lorrie Pieper, Nancy Shepard, Susan Wright, Karen Kapland, Irene McDonnell and Pat McLaughlin eagerly await the cutting of the cake.

LITERARY STAFF labors over coming yearbook. Writers are Judy Wall, Marie Boccuti, Peggy Sullivan, Nancy Shepard, Ginger Braun, Sissy Muse, Charlotte O'Donnell, and Mary Jo Wood.

Intrigues of the new school and surroundings inspired this year's staff with numerous ideas and plans. Starting off with a contest to rename the yearbook to fit its new habitat brought forth spirit and enthusiasm from the entire student body.

With not only Medalist as our goal but also the satisfaction of being able to present to Notre Dame a first edition it can be proud of, the TERRACES staff endeavored to include all the highlights of our modern campus life.

Of New Faces and New Sights

SURVEYING THE SCENERY—TERRACES editors Louise McCormick and Irene McDonnell plan yearbook pictures with staff photographers Libby Baker and Honey Callan.

BUSINESS STAFF struggles to promote a successful campaign for a bigger and better yearbook. They are: Nannette Smith, Ann Flanigan, Lawre Donnelly, Betty O'Connell, Doris Crimy and Peggy Mullan.

Athletics Inspired School Spirit

EXCITING MOMENTS are to be expected for the Freshman Class as their captain, Pat Colimore, proudly accepts the coveted A. A. Banner from Mrs. Barlow.

The Athletic Association reclaimed the traditions of the old school by the renewal of its sports, Gym Meet, and Field Day programs. Through these activities, the AA accomplished its purpose of inspiring school spirit, loyalty, and good sportsmanship in each girl. At the annual AA banquet, class banners, silver danglers, the Sportsmanship Cup, and the Gold Medal were awarded to the outstanding members of this school organization.

FIRST FLAG RAISING at new school is ably demonstrated by Lawre Donnelly as Father David and Francie Dugan look on.

Loyalty and Determination

GOOD SPORTS—Varsity hockey players smile despite a disappointing season; kneeling: Susan Buckley, Sharon McDade, Mikie Armstrong, Mary Lou Flanigan, Kathy Flanigan; standing: Martha Dugan, Maureen Murray, Trisha Mullan, Lacy Boyle, Jane Hoff, Miss Lyons, Francie Dugan, Mary Claire Toohey, Sheila McDonnell, Betsy Dwyer and Pat Guthrie.

Autumn found Hampton with an abundance of sportsminded enthusiasts, but minus a hockey field. The undaunted Varsity Squad, however, survived the long trek to Villa Julie three times a week, manifesting excellent technique and true sportsmanship. Under the diligent management of Mikie Armstrong and the watchful guidance of Miss Lyons, this spirit prevailed throughout the season.

A Triumph in Sportsmanship

Victory is important, but secondary. Good sportsmanship marks a good team. Under the coaching and leadership of Miss Betty Lou Lyons, the players entered enthusiastically into the games.

Despite the superb dribbling and passing, the varsity suffered some setbacks. Yet the attitude of the team proved them victorious.

VIVACIOUS HEPSTERS Judy Hook, Janet Polek, Pat Reilly, Karen Knox, Anne Baetz, Susan Wright, Dottie Martin, and Lois Reid contribute to the enthusiasm of interscholastic sports.

Defeat usually means that the winning team has scored more points than the losers. All that is marked on the score book is the total points for both teams. There is no mention of team fight, desire and determination. Under the sportsmanship of Sharon Ross, the JV hoopsters kept up the spirit that is so important in basketball.

Notre Dame mermaids swam their way to another successful season. This year marked the sixth consecutive undefeated season for the team. Hours of strenuous practice led to triumph. The swimming season was topped by two victories over Friends School and one over Washington and Lee High School.

Initiating our new gym with the happy cries of victors and the sighs of losers, intramural basketball brought with it new cheers and many tense moments. Class rivalry and good sportsmanship also characterized these spirited games. Juniors clinched the banner for the Green and Grey by trouncing all comers with their exceptional ability.

With basketball came the swimming season and the interclass meets. Blinding all other classes in their spray, Junior mermaids captured this banner to add to their class collection.

RELAY RACE—Connie Callis gets ready to take the plunge.

"BASKET?" Ginny Gurny, Joan Frey, Sue Van Wiggeren and Sharon Slear watch breathlessly as the ball teeters on the rim of the basket.

"WE WON!"—Francie Dugan recounts her tennis match to team member Kathy Donnelly.

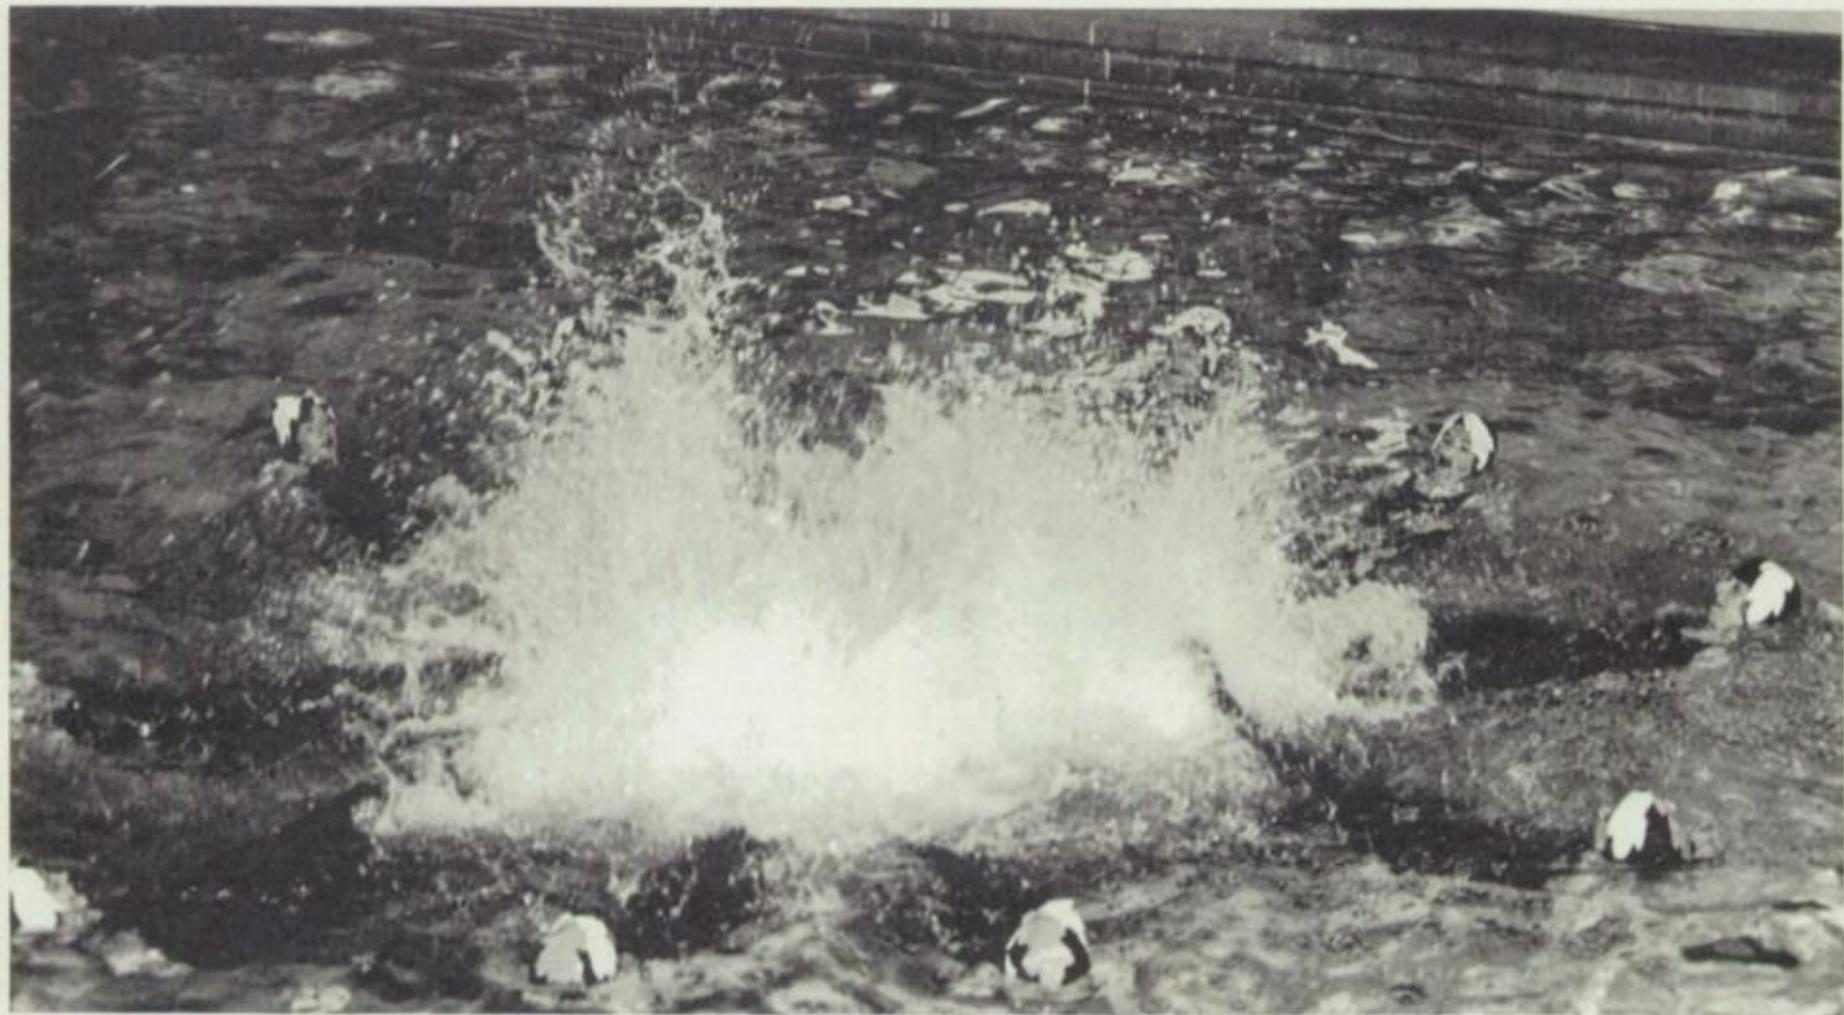

The varsity tennis team vied with unbeatable opponents this season. Awaiting construction of new courts on the campus, the varsity team practiced on a few Saturday mornings at Loyola College. Martha Dugan captained the team while Miss Lyons supervised. A four year veteran of the varsity team was Louise McCormick.

TEMPORARY INSTRUCTOR Louise McCormick demonstrates her serve to Camilla Cummings and Sharon Slear.

SYNCHRONIZED SPLASH—NDP mermaids aptly perform in the water ballet.

Were Synchronized, at Net or Pool

During the first year at Hampton, Notre Dame added to her extra-curricular activities a water ballet conducted by Mrs. Joan Barlow. Colorful scenery and costumes heightened each act of An Island Idyll, which was presented to the students and their families during May. A musical background of exotic songs filled the air as twenty-seven girls synchronized their swimming designs. Comedy also prevailed as the audience enjoyed the silly antics of diving sailors and the humorous nightshirt race. A beautiful rendition of Bali, brought to a close a memorable evening and a superb performance.

"Here the Truth"

Bishop Michael J. Hyle blessed the new Notre Dame Preparatory School on October 16. The ceremonies commenced outside with the blessing of the cornerstone which contained a statue of the Blessed Virgin Mary, a newspaper and several medals. The Bishop accompanied by the clergy, including Father David Colella, Father Dunn, Father Julian, Father McCourt, Father Newman, Father O'Dea and Father O'Neill, proceeded into the building to bless the crucifixes and the entire building. Benediction began after the procession returned to the altar erected at the front of the building. Father William Kailer Dunn delivered the address and Father Newman officiated as Master of Ceremonies. Following dedication, tours were given and refreshments were served to commemorate an important date in the annals of Notre Dame Hampton.

CRUCIFIX is blessed by Bishop Michael J. Hyle and Reverend William C. Newman.

Seniors Tamed Frisky Freshmen

TIME OUT—Claire Tumulty, Janet Polek, Kathy Evans, Marie Boccuti, and Marcia Canedy relax with friends after the strenuous initiation activities.

The first class to be officially initiated on our New Hampton Campus proved their spirit by donning disguised faces, patched clothing, and fuzzy pigtails. Excited pickaninnies ran relay races, sampled strange foods, and paraded in front of faculty judges for a "beauty" contest. As a reward for surviving the heat of the afternoon, the girls were treated to a refreshing snack of coke and ice cream. To complete the festivities of the day, the frosh and seniors enjoyed dinner at Marty's Park Plaza.

FATHER DAVID bestows blessing on the juniors' new school rings, before the traditional ceremony.

"A Dream to Wear a Symbol of . . ."

On Monday, November 14, rings were blessed by Father David and presented by Sister Mary Virginia, marking the end of a long and anxious wait by the Junior Class. Addresses by presidents Sue Sternier, Francie Dugan, Jane Matricciani, and Sharon Kennedy stressed the true significance of Ring Ceremony, both in tradition and posterity, as the Class of '62 had the distinction of being the first class to receive the new Hampton insignia.

PROUD AND PLEASED—The junior class led by Jane Matricciani, stand pensively as they recall the symbolism of their rings.

At Christmas We Sang and Enacted

CHRISTMAS TABLEAU—Pam Praff, Lois Reid and Karen Knox portray biblical characters in the seasonal pageant.

"My soul magnifies the Lord and my spirit rejoices in God my Savior."

This, "A Virgin's Carol," personified our welcome to Christ, our Savior, at the annual Christmas Play. The re-enactment of the Annunciation, Visitation and Nativity through tableaus, words and music successfully captured the true spirit of the season—the spirit of love. The author, Sister Paul Mary, directed twenty-five performers who presented the play in conjunction with the Choral Club, conducted by Sister Madeleine Marie.

"A Virgin's Carol"

ALL IS CALM—Karen Knox poses reverently as the Blessed Mother in the Christmas pageant.

PRAYERFUL PARENTS—Mrs. Knox, Mr. Rooney, and Mrs. Rooney reverently observe the crib at the Christmas play.

The annual Soiree, introduced to the Hampton campus by the Parents and Sisters, proved to be most exciting in its new surroundings. The halls rang with the sound of the spinning wheels for the bazaar while the locker room echoed laughs of the children enjoying the games. On Friday night the parents presented a Dinner and Show: Springtimes Comes to Hampton. Our versatile dining hall was transformed into a glittering ballroom welcoming all those who attended the dance of Saturday evening. Proceeds from the Soiree were donated to the school for the completion of the auditorium.

"STEP RIGHT UP!"—Nannette Smith and Frances Hanna encourage Dotty Polek, Joyce Kunkle, Libby Baker, Janet Pollack, and Jane Matricciani to take a chance on a stuffed animal.

Soiree Brought Spring to Hampton

SOIREE BREATHER—Carole Nance, Bernie Dabrowski, Pat Reilly, Tom Downs, Drew Mullan and Dee Coppinger pause to admire paper parasole favor.

SHOW BIZ!—Mr. Harry F. Bateman, Mr. Charles Bizewski, and Mr. Thomas Beers satirize income tax problems.

RETREAT MASTERS—Fr. Thomas J. Bryd, and Fr. John J. Hooper are welcomed by Joyce Kunkel, Pat Hoy, Mary Lou Flanigan, Agnes Schaeffer, Lacy Boyle, Barbara Gentile, Anne Turner Carroll, Sue Sterner, Leslie Colimore, and Honey Callan.

On the days of January 30, 31, and February 1, silence overtook the halls of Notre Dame. Under the direction of both Father Byrd and Father Hooper, there began a special three day tribute to "the one thing necessary." Opening in the traditional Notre Dame manner, the girls asked for blessings on the retreat. Spiritual benefits were given to all in the form of confessions, conferences, benediction and recitation of the rosary. The retreat ended with an inspiring high Mass and with many new resolutions.

IN THE SOLEMN QUIET—freshmen and sophomores receive Holy Communion from Father John J. Hooper. Kneeling: Michelle Herbert, Claudine Ernest, Maggie Hartley, Jane Dwyer, Sally Gardner, Jackie Kiriluk, Jean Oler, and Joyce Miller. Standing: Blaine Lilly, Judy Smith, Mary Dielmann, Pat Magness, Nancy Meszaros, Maria Narutowicz, and Joan Gavin.

RETREAT TERMINATION—Father Thomas J. Byrd raises the Host as he repeats the centuries-old words of benediction.

Despite blizzards, icy roads, cancelled rehearsals and flying pantaloons—"the play must go on!" The sound of music floated across the darkened auditorium. From wintry North to romantic South, from sophisticated East to dashing West, America gathered her lovely songs and dances to their graceful melodies. Star bright, sparkling with tears or shining with laughter, ageless and beautiful—and forever as young and fair as her springtimes, America moved on stage with Notre Dame.

VARIED EXPRESSIONS—Susan Wright, Mimi Kraff and Carolyn Bateman imitate Eliza Doolittle in their rendition of "Wouldn't It Be Loverly?"

"COME TO THE FAIR!" sings the illustrious cast of the school's first musical production.

We Crowned Our Queen

We honored Mary, our Queen, on a glorious day in May, our first May Procession at the new Notre Dame Preparatory School. After singing hymns and reciting the rosary, Sodality Prefect, Sharon Slear, crowned our Queen with the traditional wreath of flowers. Following the crowning, the class presidents presented their bouquets to the Blessed Mother. We knelt and reverently bowed our heads at the climax of our gift to our Lady, final Benediction.

BENEDICTION—Father David blesses the school during the May Procession.

THE ROSARY is recited by Sharon Slear, the Sodality Prefect and her attendant at the end of the procession.

on a Day in May

IN HONOR OF OUR LADY—Kathy Swiss and Sharon Kennedy carry bouquets to her altar.

SODALITY PREFECT Sharon Slear attended by Debra Meekins, Cindy Strautbury and Joann Fareseco crowns the statue of the Blessed Mother.

"HURRY!"—Nancy Morgan struggles to win the potato sack race on Field Day. Her teammates Louise McCormick, Betty O'Connell and Charlotte O'Donnell offer encouragement.

FIELD DAY CEREMONIES commence as Father David blesses the flag. Gene Palmer and Lawre Donnelly assist.

Field Day Scored a Victory

Sunny Memorial Day, May 30, was the climax of the year's athletic program. A new flag and flagpole were blessed by Father David; classes competed in square dance exhibition and in relay races.

The U Court enclosed the afternoon fun-frolic. Although the freshmen gained the highest number of points for square dancing, the junior class walked off triumphantly with the banner.

SNAKELIKE PROCESSION files across the campus. Charlotte O'Donnell, Jane Trail, Eileen Weisman, Connie Neer, Maureen Grady, Muff Pasko, Sharon Gardner and Carole Nance lead the student body.

Leaving Sunburn and Bruises

Bubbling conversation, pleasant friends and sumptuous food made the banquet a great social success. Deserving students claimed their awards, among them, Carmel Carozza with her sportsmanship cup. The freshmen upset the upperclass hold on the AA Banner, stealing it from their "elders." Closing a memorable evening were the customary farewell songs by the sophs and seniors.

DINNER GUESTS at the A. A. Banquet include seniors Cass Herman, Lucy Ogliastri, Gail Culp, Rosemarie Cimino, Pat Moxley, Pam Hyle, Dianne Lears, Nancy Morgan, and Carole Forbes, who seem to be having a wonderful time.

THE WINNER—Sharon McDade proudly accepts the Field Day banner for the Junior Class as Miss Lyons presents it.

Seniors Bid "Sayonara" at Promtime

Seniors and their escorts arrived at school on May 15 to spend a gay evening dancing to the music of the Legionnaires. The dining room was a magic place, transformed by Japanese cherry trees, graceful silhouettes, geisha girls and a torii gate. The promenade highlighted the evening, with class and prom executives receiving bouquets of roses and the class singing "Towers." Afterwards there was a class breakfast at the Penn Hotel, ending an evening to remember.

SINGING "TOWERS" for the last time, seniors smile reminiscently. Jim Tillman, Susan White, Tom Downs, Pat Reilly, Duck Blair, Lacy Boyle, Mickey Lattin, Susan Wright, Tippy Cronin, Lois Reid, Richard Dare and Sharon Gardner, form the honor line.

PORTRAYAL OF THE FUTURE—

A NEW TRADITION is set by the class of '61. Nancy Morgan, Connie Neer, Judy Wall, Susan White and Gene Palmer help plant the first dogwood tree as Mary Jo Wood, Bonnie Bowling and Peggy Sullivan watch.

Traditional class night began anew on our Hampton campus, June 8. The dining room was the scene of the delicious buffet supper, and of a skit starring Mary Lou Bullen and her "kindergarten class" in Little Pitchers Have Big Ears. Startling predictions were revealed and the Last Will and Testament was disclosed. Completing the evening was the presentation of gifts, among them a dogwood tree, planted on west campus.

Where '61 Gathers, We Remember . . .

Eternity has come early to a member of the Class of 1961. Following a brief illness, Diana Mary Hartwell died of leukemia, April 4, 1961.

We remember Diane as our classmate. In Mary's blue and white, she sat with us in freshmen Latin, puzzled over the intricacies of sophomore geometry, learned American history as a junior. She participated in the C. S. M. C. and the Debate Club, an industrious follower in all her chosen activities.

We remember Di as our friend, amiable, quiet, even-tempered. With us, she looked forward to weekends. Sociable and friendly, she enjoyed dancing, swimming, ice skating, football and basketball games.

Now Diana is experiencing eternal peace. Because her death has left a void in our class, wherever the class of '61 gathers, we shall remember her as one of us.
